ORGANIZATION OF AUTO DEALERS IS DECLARED ILLEGAL

MORGAN OPINION HITS NINE COMBINATIONS IN STATE.

MUST DISSOLVE

Action Under Anti-Trust Law Threatened Involving So-called Saginaw Plan.

(By Associated Press.)
Madison.—The organization of Wisconsin automobile dealers into associations for the purpose of fixing prices paid for used cars, through dissemination of trade information, was held to be in restraint of trade and illegal under the state anti-trust law by Attorney General William J. Morgan, in an opinion Wednesday to G. F. Clifford, special investigator of his department.

Nine combinations of dealers in various sections of the state will be asked to dissolve their organizations or face prosecution for violation of the anti-trust law, as a result of this decision, the attorney general said. Court action, according to Mr. Morgan, would involve the so-called Saginaw plan, disseminating trade information, which has not previously been tested.

Competition Checked, Opinion.
The opinion describes how, through weekly meetings and by exchange of statistical information, dealers have established classification of prices to the paid owners of used automobiles. Competition is said to have been restricted, although there is no compulsory agreement of the members of the association to conform to the standard prices set by published lists made.

"From the testimony of several dealers it is evident that the natural effect of such a combination would be to eliminate competition as to the allowance on used cars and that it would ultimately result in arriving at a price for each car, whether it be sold or not," Mr. Morgan said in his opinion.

"The mere fact that there is no obligation, penalty or compulsory action on the part of the dealers to sell and buying does not prevent it being a combination in restraint of trade."

Held Law Violation.
"If there is the disclosure of publication of trade information, it is unquestionably obnoxious, and it is held to be a disclosure of information as to sale, taken in connection with the dissemination of trade information, it is equally a violation of the anti-trust laws."

"While we appreciate the automobile dealer at present has a problem to solve in the matter of how to keep the manufacturer going and to satisfy a certain class of customers who have been educated up to the idea of purchasing a new car, yet this problem, in fairness to the public, must be solved consistently with existing principles of law and existing statutes applicable to restraint of trade."

$3,000,000, of Liberty Bonds Sold at Par
(By Associated Press.)
New York.—The striking feature of the early and active dealings in today's bond market was the sale of one block of $3,000,000 of Liberty 4 1/2 per cent bonds at par as against yesterday's closing price of $99.92.

Seaplane Found; Passengers Are Safe on Island

MIAMI, Fla.—The seaplane Santa Maria, missing since early Monday, when it began a flight from Key West to Nassau, with six passengers aboard, was found at Wilson Island, according to a wireless message received here Wednesday at 11:30 a. m. from Havana. The radio, which was sent via one of the naval planes sent out Wednesday, said the Santa Maria was found at Wilson Island, and the passengers on the Santa Maria were taken to Nassau by a small boat while the pilot and mechanic remained with the plane. According to the radio, the Santa Maria encountered heavy winds and was compelled to use so much gas in combating the gale, that it was forced down on Williams Island Monday afternoon.

60 Renters

A House, an Ad. 60 Replies.
Mrs. Kennedy of 232 Lincoln street decided a house was not doing her much good if she was not getting something out of it. So she decided to advertise it. She did, and received 60 replies.
Sixty times she had to answer the telephone. Sixty times she could have rented her house. And out of the 60, 59 had to watch for other news in the hope that some one would advertise a house to their liking.
Out of the 60 people who answered her ad, but one was able to rent it. What about the other 59? Who is going to satisfy their wants? In the same manner that they saw Mrs. Kennedy's ad they will watch for all the others until they get what they want.
Are you going to be one of the lucky ones and rent yours? The easiest way is to advertise it. And set it before a responsive public.

Nation to Celebrate Grant's Birthday

Top row, left to right: Grant's tomb; Ulysses S. Grant, general and president, born one hundred years ago; Gen. Robert E. Lee, surrendering to Grant at Appomattox. Below, left to right: Grant's triumphal entry into Washington in 1865; the house in which Grant was born at Pleasantville; Grant's home later in Galena, Ill.

Pleasantville, O.—Practically every city, town, village and hamlet in the United States will join in the celebration of the Gen. U. S. Grant centennial April 27. This town, being the birthplace of Grant, naturally will be the center of the nation-wide celebration. Galena, Ill., also will put on a gala celebration, for it was there that Grant lived during his later years.

In nearly every city appropriate ceremonies will mark the event. President Harding will speak to the nation from here. Arrangements have been made to broadcast his address by radio. Other prominent members of the official family also will participate.

Anniston, Ala.—Policeman Marshall Welch of the local police force Wednesday used an automobile containing the bodies of Joseph T. Holliday and C. B. Hurst, also members of the force, to an undertaking establishment, where he was alleged to have said he had killed Holliday in self-defense and Hurst accidentally.

Welch's story, as stated to the police, was that he was walking a beat with a brother officer when Holliday and Hurst drove by in an automobile which broke out with a low report, pouring down volleys of ashes, stones and smoke.

No serious damage was caused by the explosion. The photographs at the university were damaged, making it impossible to obtain an accurate record of the shocks. Telephone and telegraph service was interrupted.

There were many narrow escapes from collapsing chimneys and walls. The earthquake was one of the most severe experienced here. Officials said it lasted 15 minutes, the longest in years.

The American embassy was slightly damaged and many of the exhibits at the peace exhibition were broken. Yokohama was as severely shaken as Tokyo and the Chinese quarter in Yokohama was partially destroyed and the water works disrupted.

Believe Fisher, Hit by Cow, Has Skull Fractured
Joseph Fisher, 40, injured in an accident on the concrete road near the Monterey bridge Monday afternoon, was taken to the hospital. The X-ray taken shortly after the accident did not show this according to information furnished by a physician to Mrs. Frank Fisher, wife of the injured man's brother. Physicians marvel at the fact that he is still alive, as in many instances the injuries which he sustained would have been fatal. Hope is held for his recovery.

The story of the accident given by the injured man to Mrs. Fisher is that the cow which he was driving in a wagon, jumped out of the box and fell on top of him on the concrete road. The accident was not caused by a runaway it is said. He was picked up by a deputy sheriff from Rockford, Mr. Billestrand, and taken in his car to the hospital. The left shoulder is terribly smashed and broken.

The cow, the cause of the trouble, was uninjured.

BOOTLEGGERS TO BE DRIVEN FROM TOILET WATER BUSINESS
New York.—Toilet water shall not be sold by the members of the Manufacturers' Association, nor try to hide the radiant odors of the synthetic, orange blossoms or Bronx behind the delicate perfumes properly belonging in ladies' boudoir. The bootlegger is to be driven out of the toilet water business. This is the decision of the perfume manufacturers meeting here in their 25th annual convention.

KNEESKERN CASE TO JURY WEDNESDAY?
(By Associated Press.)
Decatur, Ga.—The case of the state against E. F. Kneeskern, accused of killing Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Brocklin, is expected to go to the jury late Wednesday afternoon.

ONE DEAD, TWO HURT IN CROSSING CARS.
(By Associated Press.)
Escanaba, Mich.—Mrs. Leonard Spaulding, 58, was instantly killed, her husband, Leonard, 65, was probably fatally injured and Mrs. Ellen Spaulding, 45, is in serious condition as a result of their automobile being struck by a See line freight train at Escanaba, near here, this morning.

Still Some Hope Bolsheviks May See Way Out of Difficulties.

(By Associated Press.)
London.—The allied note to be presented to the Russian delegation at Genoa Thursday, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Genoa, will be practically an ultimatum, demanding unequivocal replies on four principal points:

First, the payment of war debts, either entirely or with a reduction based on Russian capacity to pay.

Second, the payment of pre-war debts with the granting, if necessary, of a reasonable moratorium.

Third, indemnity for all damages caused to foreigners.

Fourth, restitution of confiscated property.

FIVE RUSSIAN SPIES ARRESTED IN GENOA

(By Associated Press.)
London.—Five Russians, including Kerevsky's former secretary, Boris Slavinkoff, were arrested in Genoa by the Italian police on Sunday.

Slavinkoff arrived in Genoa under a false name and with a forged passport and the police found he and his companions had a plan of the hotel in which the Russian spy delegation is staying.

The correspondent says that Slavinkoff, since the bolshevik revolution in Russia, has been the chief link between the French government and the Russian spy delegation.

ERNIE STEPS ON WRONG PEDAL; CAR TURNS FLIP-FLOP

Monroe.—Ernest Kyburz's first experience driving a Ford proved thrilling. Ernest, a farm hand who lives north of Monroe, drove a touring car home. There were two other persons in the car. All was going well until Ernest stepped on the wrong pedal. What happened after that is not quite clear to the occupants, but the car shot ahead like an eight cylinder racer and turned over twice from the front end. The occupants were uninjured.

EVIDENCE GOES AS BOTTLE EXPLODES

State Has No Liquor to Produce Claimed as Bought from Parker Putnam.

Dismissal of the Parker Putnam liquor case loomed as a possibility, Wednesday, when it was brought out in Putnam's preliminary examination that the bottle of evidence alleged to have been purchased at his hotel has exploded and there is no evidence other than the remains of the bottle.

Testimony of Miss Lou M. Stoddard, Putnam's clerk, was that she placed the full bottle in the court room safe on the afternoon when Putnam was first arrested. She said she saw the bottle the next morning on one side of the bottle had fallen out and there was a strong odor of liquor prevalent.

Ernest Miller, Beloit, who alleged he purchased the bottle from Putnam, was called to the stand. He said he saw the bottle the next morning on one side of the bottle had fallen out and there was a strong odor of liquor prevalent.

The hearing was continued until Wednesday afternoon, at which time Putnam was to take the stand. Joseph Gillespie was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, Wednesday, for intoxication.

Ernest Miller paid a fine and costs of $12.40 for speeding on Center avenue.

Women Beat Up Green Bay Men

Green Bay.—Pat Gaffney, part owner of a road house, near here, is in a hospital slightly injured, as a result of a beating administered to him by four women late Tuesday night. The women were alleged to have used a hammer, a policeman's billy and a gun. No warrants for the arrest of the alleged assailants had been issued up to noon.

FIRE DEPARTMENT RECEIVES NEW HOSE

Five hundred feet of hose from the Bi-Lateral company, Akron, O., was unloaded for the fire department Wednesday. It having been ordered by the council in March. The hose, guaranteed to withstand a pressure of 600 pounds, was tested up to 400 pounds under reaction of Chief C. Murphy before it was put in service.

VETS OF THREE WARS IN FROLIC AT MOOSE HALL

Eight hundred years of G. A. R. veterans attended a meeting held in their honor and that of the Spanish-American war "vets" given by the Richard E. Ellis Janesville post of the American Legion at Moose hall Tuesday night. There were 10 Civil war veterans present, each better than 80 years of age. Fifteen Spanish war men attended.

Talks were made by E. B. T. Windover, commander of the G. A. R. Commander Hill of the Spanish-American soldiers; J. F. Carle and Albert Holt; Michael Raboy, G. A. R. member, sang and danced. David E. Smith, commander of the G. A. R. members, gave a report on the war.

Thirty-five new members have signed up with the American Legion through the campaign conducted during the past week. The drive will continue.

The Stock Pavilion

Plans are under way for the erection of a stock stock pavilion at the fair grounds which will be more than a mere place for the sale of stock. It will be erected by the center of community interests and make possible the use of the fair grounds for much more than holding a fair once a year. The fair grounds will be raised to $8,500 and the farmers will receive $5,000. Citizens of Janesville are asked to subscribe $2,500. It is one of the big things for the city.

Ft. Worth Scene of Destruction; Miles of Water

(By Associated Press.)
Dallas, Tex.—Forty-seven persons were unaccounted for or were reported known dead Wednesday as a result of the floods and one windstorm in Texas in the last 24 hours. The list was:

Ft. Worth, 33 missing.
Breckenridge, 3 reported drowned.
Grand Prairie, 2 missing.
Mountain Creek, near Cleburne, one man reported killed in windstorm yesterday.

Actual casualties will be known only after the flood waters go and the lists of missing and reports of drownings can be verified.

Receding Waters Disclose Desolation

(By Associated Press.)
Fort Worth, Tex.—Thirty-six persons are dead, missing in the Trinity river flood here, a revised list indicates.

Rapid recession of the flood water of the Trinity river here this morning was revealing the danger of additional damage and loss of life. Although more than two inches of rain fell last night bringing the total rain fall here to 10.59 inches during the past 36 hours the Trinity was receding rapidly and the worst of the danger was believed past. The riverstage this morning was 33.7 feet, a drop of nearly six feet from yesterday's maximum.

Houses Piled Up.
Street Commissioner Gilvin announced that the city will have water service restored by tonight. Many dwellings that were inaccessible yesterday have emerged from the flood today until they may be reached on dry soil. The flooded area near the packing houses has been reduced by several square miles. Little water is left between the railroad tracks on North Main street and 11th street.

On the north the water extends from the court house to the limits of North Fort Worth, about two miles. The eastern area is from the Rock Island railroad tracks to river side, about one mile. This area is about 26 blocks from the business district of Fort Worth. The water on the western boundary of the city extends from the Van Zandt viaduct about 14 blocks from downtown, to the Van Zandt school, a distance of about one mile.

The property damage will be about one million dollars, according to estimates today.

GALE TAKES SILO AWAY—ANOTHER BRINGS IT BACK

It blows the wind That profits nobody.—Shakespeare.
Henry Wieland, farmer of Newark township, long ago took stock in the saying of the great English poet. Luckily, he has overcome the handicap that would have grounded the ambition of most men to dust.

This time it is of the wind. It self he speaks. Two weeks ago the terrific gale laid hold of his silo and moved it three feet off its foundation, though not disturbing its upright position. He called the insurance adjuster and a settlement was on the way.

While the weather was stormy, Wieland wrapped itself around the silo and, lo and behold, when Farmer Wieland went to inspect his farm said silo was back upon its feet and position, only an inch or two out of position.

While the revolver used by Barden in the suicide and attempted murder was three blank cartridges, only two shots had been accounted for, the one that killed Barden and the one which so mortally wounded his wife. The boy, Francis, says he heard three shots fired.

County Coroner Lynn A. Whaley will go to Beloit Thursday morning to conduct an inquest in the municipal court rooms at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Barden Still Lives at Hospital

Mrs. Frank W. Barden, Beloit woman, shot in the head by her husband who a moment later killed himself at their apartment in Beloit early Tuesday morning, was still alive at 2:30 Wednesday although her condition is serious. Only her physician and children have been allowed to see her.

An X-ray of the woman's head shows the bullet lodged at the base of the brain just back of the medial line of the forehead. One eye at least, and perhaps both, were destroyed by the bullet. At Emergency hospital, Beloit, she is making a brave fight and may win out.

BUSINESS MEN OF WHITEWATER GET ORGANIZED

(From an Occasional Correspondent.) Whitewater—Tuesday evening the business men of Whitewater held a banquet for the purpose of reorganizing the Commercial club. The principal speaker was Mrs. Williams, representing the Milwaukee Association of Commerce. Mr. Williams told the business men that instead of trying to reach out after new industries for their cities, they should give as much time as possible in breaking down the city barrier between the town and the country and cultivate intimate business and social relations with the people in the rural sections around Whitewater.

He said that instead of having the merchants of Whitewater look to the farming sections simply for trade, they ought to endeavor to give service in every possible way to the men upon the farms and that that sort of spirit and attitude would cultivate the better relations that would permanently be successful.

Mr. Williams outlined that there were three important lines of activity that the people of Whitewater should become interested in:

First: Stimulate more co-operation between farmers and city people in the advance of dairying; that this could be brought about in many ways, by having more cow testing associations and by increasing membership in pure-bred breeders' clubs. He said that John Erickson of Waupaca County had just developed a pure-bred Holstein cow that had become the world's champion in producing 1,357 pounds of butter last year and that around Whitewater were thousands of cows that could be made better revenue producers with the right sort of co-operation in applying proper dairy methods.

Second: Mr. Williams said that Whitewater should become more actively interested in every movement that encouraged tourists to come into Wisconsin, not only in providing hospitality and entertainment for those who pass through the city, but also in urging every resident of Whitewater to write to friends and newspapers outside regarding Wisconsin's attractions for recreational purposes.

Third: With a State Normal school located at Whitewater, the people of the town should take the leadership in Walworth county in improving rural schools; that there was great opportunity for splendid co-operation in strengthening and improving the rural school conditions of the county.

IDEALISM NEEDED MORE THAN EVER

Prof. A. B. Hall, on the "Playground of Life" at Twilight Club.

American government and American politics are paying the price of neglecting legislative representatives to gain local support through the granting of special favors to their districts. Political jobs, government buildings, government pork, and political buncombe are deemed more important than an equitable achievement of truly great national and state problems.

Political platforms adopted by parties have become meaningless aggregations of expressions to please the public, rather than a frank statement of party ideals.

Such were the expressions of Prof. A. B. Hall, University of Wisconsin, Madison, during his brilliant address before the Twilight club at ladies night. There were more than 300 attending the banquet in the Y. M. C. A. here Tuesday night.

Lack of constructive thought and intelligent study of political issues was declared to be the evil of American politics. The remedy suggested by Prof. Hall was not more autographs and more democratic rights but a more idealistic vision of American government. During the time of a national crisis people rise to the full heights of achievement and become aware of the necessity of united national purpose. Then the people reach their full political capacity through idealism.

The trouble is not so much in our Congressmen as in the pressure brought to bear upon them by voters who have selfish interests to protect. declared Prof. Hall. "In the tariff one business is lined up against another, one state against the other in a grand rush to 'get their share.' Votes are traded in Congress with the result of a tariff schedule that pleases few in its entirety. The tariff should be a scientific problem worked out in a scientific manner, and not a political issue.

Need National Thought

"As long as voters think more of postoffices, jobs and river improvements than they do of great national issues then the national problems cannot be solved. This is a materialistic day in a materialistic age. Bartering of votes in Congress will never solve the questions affecting all the nation.

"There must be a more intelligent people in making decisions of national importance. People do not think. They are gullible when it comes to having political bunk jammed down their throats. America must in the near future solve her labor problems.

Rule of Good Laws "They are working in the foreign nations and it must be remembered that 20 per cent of the prosperity in the United States depends on overseas returns. There must be equitable means to settle these labor problems to protect both labor and capital whereby there is a rule of law instead of a rule by force. One side now dictates to the other and it is not a class question," stated Prof. Hall.

The speaker declared that intelligent decisions on political questions were based to a great extent on how a person used his "playground hours."

"You cannot confuse liberty with license," he said in pleading for the improvement of municipal government and the making of America more perfect.

Dean J. E. Ryan presided during the meeting and made a decided hit. Music was furnished by Hoel's orchestra and several instrumental solos by Ralph Mead. Mrs. Roy Parker sang several solos accompanied by Miss Grace Murphy. The Twilight meeting was the best of the year. Inviting of women to all the club programs was proposed by Dean Ryan.

VILLAGE CAN NOW HAVE LATE PARTIES

Power Line Completed Giving Footville 24-Hour Service.

No longer must social functions in Footville break up at 11 p. m. or continue after that hour by the dim candle or lamp light. Wednesday afternoon 24-hour service of the Janesville Electric company to Footville was started.

It marks a real event in the lives of Footville residents who for several years have been furnished with lighting from the electric plant of the Valeria Milk condensery there. The drawback was that the lights went off at 11 p. m. until morning.

Through the expenditure of $25,000, according to William R. Schmidley, manager of the company, Footville and Orfordville now receive 24-hour service. Power is sold to the Orfordville Light and Power company, which distributes it to Orfordville patrons. At Footville power is sold to the village which acts as a public utility selling to residents.

The Janesville Electric company and the Wisconsin River Power company are contemplating $20,000 worth of extensions to improve the service to Edgerton and vicinity. Mr. Schmidley said Wednesday.

The plan being considered means the establishment of a sub station at Edgerton or near Edgerton. This would give Edgerton an auxiliary service, power at the present time being furnished through lines from the Janesville plant. Under present conditions, the capacity is limited, which necessitates a change.

CLAIRVOYANT TIPS FAIL IN LOCATING ROCKFORD WOMAN

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Rockford—Can clairvoyants aid in finding missing persons? Twice the hopes of relatives seeking Mrs. Lillian Anderson of this city have been raised to a high pitch through advice of clairvoyants. Once they made a hurried trip to a Janesville hotel on advice that Mrs. Anderson was to be found there. Tuesday Rockford river was dragged at a certain point here, where it was said the body of Mrs. Anderson would be found, but with no results.

The prosaic round of home marketing was given a spicy tang by the original suggestions by Miss Abby Marlott, Madison, to the members of the Federation of Women, at her after dinner talk on "Food Inspection" given at the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon, in the Baptist church parlors.

"God can't be on the job all the time, neither can your local sanitary inspector," she emphasized, "so it is up to every woman to be an assistant inspector, to help in securing clean markets, and safe milk supply."

"There is fun in it, there is health in it, and there is money in it," she said, "in so getting after the market man, that he, too, is interested in raising the standard of his goods."

"We must get the reformer point of view and make the man who keeps the store, and the local sanitary inspector know that we have close personal interest in these affairs."

"The milk, too, must be safeguarded by definite laws, and the local inspector should have adequate apparatus so that milk may be examined for bacteria as well as for purity and cleanliness."

By these means she showed the death rate for babies would be lowered and the health of the community made more secure.

645 In Federation.

There are 645 members of the city federation it was reported by Mrs. Joanna Hayes Sutherland at the brief business session at the beginning of the meeting.

Some 2,682 children had their teeth examined at the dental clinic as shown in the report of Mrs. Win-nor.

The recording secretary, Mrs. Alan Dunwiddie, outlined some of the activities carried on by the federation during the past year besides the maintenance of the rest room. They were the annual rummage sale, the dental clinic, help in the Salvation army drive, the Armenian relief, workers in the chest clinic and chap-ones for the play given by the American Legion. The securing of a police woman for the year, and the work of a committee headed by Mrs. Percy Munger to secure county tuberculosis sanatorium, were also mentioned.

Luncheon Precedes Meeting.

It cost $2,102 last year to maintain the rest room, the report of the treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Peterson, showed, and about $170 to maintain the dental clinic. The outgoing president, Mrs. C. S. Atwood, also gave a brief resume to the different phases of federation activities during the past year. Miss Mary Barker spoke of the proposed girls' camp of the coming summer under auspices of the Y. W. C. A. and Mrs. F. E. Clark on phases of the proposed rehabilitation and training offered by the state, to those in need of these measures.

The meeting was preceded by a one o'clock luncheon served at long tables decorated with spring flowers and lighted candles.

A delegation of the Garden club, consisting of Mrs. F. S. Sheldon, Mrs. E. J. Baumerson, Mrs. Frank Van Kirk and Mrs. S. D. Tamm, supplied and arranged the decorations. Miss Mable Greenman was in charge of the finances of the event.

About 125 women were served at luncheon by a committee consisting of Mrs. J. W. Dady, Mrs. Morris Erickson, Mrs. Frank Doane, Mrs. V. T. Clark, Mrs. Thomas Howe, Mrs. J. C. Barker and Mrs. J. R. Eggert.

SPRING SUMMER FALL WINTER

Your coal bills will tell you—install ARCOLA NOW!

YEAR in and year out coal has always cost less in the spring. Your coal dealer knows it; your coal bills show it.

ARCOLA, too, costs less now, this month, than ever before in its history—much less than last fall. To take advantage of that low price

Telephone your Steamfitter today

ARCOLA means an American Radiator in each room—no more cold rooms; no more spotty heat.

It means better health for the children, for it gives the same healthful radiator warmth that florists insist upon for their delicate flowers.

And it pays for itself in the fuel it saves.

ARCOLA Saved these Coal Dealers One-Third

"About a year ago we installed ARCOLA. Formerly we used two large stoves which required constant attention and gave us poor service. Today we have uniform heat and the saving of fuel was a revelation to us. We are not using as much coal by one-third."

SENIOR PLAY IS FIRST IN 9 YEARS

Specialty Numbers Between Acts Arranged for Show, Thursday.

Specialty features between acts of "The Man on the Box," the Senior A high school play to be seen at the Myers theatre in one performance Thursday night will be one of the big attractions. They are of a vaudeville character, mostly humorous and will provide the amusement of many more members of the 100 Senior A's than the play alone, with its small cast.

Between the first and second acts of the play will be given "The Miniature Musical Mids," a comedy song and dance number featuring Misses Marilyn Lord, Ruth Francis, Audrey Bell, Margaret Ford, Helen Smith, Ethel Coleman, Belda Sorenson and Marilyn King.

Between the second and third acts there will be "The New Doll" and "Jack in the Box," two dancing numbers by Misses Geneva Lovett and Alice Kimball. Intensive training under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Schaefer, gymnasium instructor of the school, has been held for the last week for these numbers.

Girls to Sell Candy.

A number of the young men of the school have offered their services as ushers. Fred Brown, house manager for the night, will have charge of them. They are: Harold Conroy, Raymond Conroy, Cyril Roscoe, Cyril Smith, Russell Thorpe, Morris Haddock and Kenneth Canfield.

Girls of the class have responded well to the call for candy, and each girl has made some to be sold in the lobby before and during the performance.

Tickets Sell Well.

A last minute drive to sell tickets, was conducted Wednesday morning. Several students were given what tickets remained and the business section. Enough tickets had been sold Tuesday morning to clear expenses, and it is hoped to have a packed house for the performance. All the participants, and business managers, have purchased tickets, and response from the town in general, while it has been confined chiefly to the parents, has been fair.

Miss Dulcie Nelson of the faculty, who has had much dramatic training, has been the coach. Francis Crowley is "The Man on the Box" and Miss Dulcie Cunningham is the leading lady. There are 13 others in the cast. Costumes and scenery are being secured from out of the city, and the performance, the first high school play in 9 years, promises to be more than the usual amateur production.

High school graduates recall that the last senior play was given in 1913, "The Taming of the Shrew." In 1912, "Little Emily" was presented with George W. Yahn and Sara Alice Garbutt, now Mr. and Mrs. George W. Yahn, taking the leading parts. With the arrival of Jean Shearer as school principal in 1914 many school activities, including the annual class play and four literary societies, were abolished.

Woman Slightly Injured When Cars Collide

Mrs. F. C. Eiselett, 557 North Pearl street, suffered bruises about her head, cuts in her right arm and a general shaking-up, in an automobile accident at the corner of Milwaukee and Franklin streets at 8:15 Tuesday night. In a state of semi-consciousness she was removed to the Badger Drug store and later to her home where she was much improved Wednesday.

Mrs. Eiselett was pitched sideways from her seat in the car of Walter Brandt, 644 Grove street, her brother-in-law, when the machine collided with a car driven by William Fred Becht, 424 East Grand avenue, Beloit. Both cars were Studebakers.

Although the Brandt car was slightly damaged, the driver escaped unhurt and there is no damage to the Becht machine.

The crash occurred when Brandt was driving north on Franklin street and crossed Wisconsin street intersection. Slowing down to allow some girls to cross the street, Mrs. Eiselett says the Brandt car was smashed into by the Becht machine traveling west on Milwaukee street at a good rate of speed.

Large crowds gathered about the wreck.

ALLEGED SUMMER HOME THIEF CAUGHT

Lake Geneva.—Police believe they have cleared up robberies of several summer homes here with the arrest of George Long, a dishwasher, employed at a local hotel. Keys belonging to Francis Drake, son of the millionaire Chicago hotel proprietor, found in his pocket, was identified. Long was caught while robbing the home of John R. Wilson of Chicago.

Fire in Hammond Rolling Mill Causes $150,000 Loss

Hammond, Ind.—Explosion of a tank of gasoline used in heating rivets caused a fire at the Warner Manufacturing Iron works here, resulting in a loss of $150,000. The soft rolling mill, the rubbering department and the assembly building were wiped out. William Nokes, a foreman, was severely burned, but will recover.

Governor's Messenger Has Big Collection of "Jingling Johnson" Notes

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison.—The effusions of cranks, insane persons and maniacs, directed to governors of Wisconsin for the last 15 years and filed away by Sam Banks, the executive messenger, are exhibited by him.

Over 3,000 letters, printed reports, post cards and prepared documents of various sorts, all written by demented individuals, are shown by the governor's files. They represent all stages of mental disturbance and indicate a bit of the humor that develops in the office of the chief executive of the state.

The unbalanced individual who has been sending his propaganda to Wisconsin governors for the last 15 years believes the system of scoring in baseball must be changed or the public and children of the county will go crazy.

His printed cards often adorned with his picture, explain how "reality" is discovered in old system baseball. The name of "reality baseball" is to be substituted where scoring is by bases and not by scores. "Every base to count, four bases to the man." The cards of this man are still being received. Another prepared an exposition on "The Ass," printed on red, white and blue paper and sent to all governors and leading newspapers of the state. "The Ass has, from time beyond the reach of memory, stood as an emblem for patience, purity of thought, exemplary habits," this unbalanced person wrote, embellishing his description with florid poetry.

"The character of the Ass stands foremost of all true sacredness that the broadest and loftiest human mind can conceive of," he declared. His ravings extended over 20 pages, and were carefully prepared.

Some of those writing to the governor have turned their minds to politics, with one in particular impressed with the possibilities of his becoming president on the Scandinavian vote of the northwest because of the fact that his wife was a "Swede." He offered to turn the vote of the farmers against Bryan by having his own name pasted over that of the presidential candidate, and a cross placed after it.

Through the thousands of letters every kind of mental disturbance is recorded, with threats, demands, questions in all forms of explanations and attempts to convince that the writer is perfectly sane. Their number is said to have been decreasing within the last year.

50-Piece Band, Here May 7, Has Great Record

Organized in 1911, the St. Olaf Concert band, which will give a concert at the Congregational church here May 7, has a long history of triumphs both in this country and in Europe.

The band is made up entirely of students from St. Olaf college, in Northfield, Minn. In 1916 the band first acquired faculty permission to give a concert outside of Northfield, and since that time it has traveled extensively and is now on its seven-month annual tour. It was the only college band to play at the A. Y. Exposition in Seattle, and the first college band to make a successful European tour. The latter was in 1919.

The history of the band shows some curious practices. For it years one of its important duties was to accompany the hymns at the college commencement exercises. In 1916, the faculty ruled that the regular members of the brass band who practice at noon recess may take bodily exercise between 4 and 6 p. m. on the days they practice, and in 1916 the members have been granted exemption from military drill.

Instead of receiving any exemption, the present members of the band must carry their work in addition to their regular studies.

The instrumentation of the band is complete. There are 50 members under the direction of J. Arndt Bergh. The original band had 24 members.

SUCCESS MARKS COUNTY "Y" WORK

Great Good Accomplished in Nine Years of Activity
Among Boys.

Some of the activities and achievements of the ninth year of the Rock county Y. M. C. A. are told in a pamphlet just issued, for distribution at the annual convention and banquet at the Congregational church in Janesville, Monday night. The meeting opens at 5 p. m. and supper will be served at 6:15. Hon. Burr W. Jones, justice of the Wisconsin supreme court, native of Union township, will return to tell the youth of today, his experiences of yesterday. George Hull, Johnson, president of the Rock County Y. M. C. A., will be another speaker. Arrangements for other numbers are being made by J. K. Agnot, county Y. M. C. A. secretary.

Seven Hi-Y clubs are in effect in the county, as well as six older boys' groups and numerous younger boys' groups. Every boy with one exception and that for physical disability, returned from summer camps last year knowing how to swim; 12 learned life saving; 18 won places in aquatic and athletic meets; and 15 were awarded bronze squares and one silver one for "four-square" development.

The Rock county acre of corn club, managed by J. K. Agnot, first place in the state. Orton Day, Spring Valley township, was the winner of the Gazette cup for the grand champion. George Arnold, Johnson, won second place in the fifth at the International grain show in the junior division, at Chicago.

MAN'S FACE AT WINDOW GIVES MRS. MARVIN, SCARE

Awakened at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning by a sound from the yard, which she believed was from a dog or cat, Mrs. Cora Marvin, 511 N. Franklin street, was paralyzed with fright when a dark object suddenly appeared in the open window, within a few feet of the bed where she was lying. It was a man whose features could not be discerned because of the shadow reflected by a cup, which he was holding in the room and was gone an instant later. Mrs. Marvin recovered and running upstairs screamed to Mrs. George Bodman. The police were not called.

The theory advanced by Mrs. Marvin is that the man who could not have been more than 5 feet, eight inches tall, as he was just able to look in the window, was someone who contemplated robbery. The railroad tracks are close by.

As a result of her experience, Mrs. Marvin has made a solemn resolution never to sleep on the first floor with the window open.

Grimm Grants Four Divorces

Following a hearing in which all charges were exchanged, Mrs. Mabel Fairbairt, 46, was granted a divorce from her husband, Charles W. Fairbairt, 28, by Judge George Grimm in the Rock county circuit court. Both advanced charges of cruelty and inhuman treatment in their complaints. They reside in Beloit.

Mary Demrow was granted a divorce from her husband, Charles D. Demrow, Janesville, on the grounds of non-support.

Ad. J. Roberts was divorced from George T. Roberts on her testimony that the husband was habitually intoxicated and had failed to support her. The wife is from Evansville and the husband has been working in Edgerton.

Angeline Welliver obtained a divorce from her husband, Jesse Welliver for cruel and inhuman treatment.

PERSONALS

Mrs. A. P. Douglas, Beloit, was a week end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens, La Vista apartments.

Mrs. Claire Capelle, Prospect avenue, who has been confined to her home with illness, is convalescing.

Helen Lentz is home from Fort Lincoln where she attended a dinner party at the home of Mrs. Lillie Farley.

BLIND BOYS ORGANIZE
Boys at the state school for the blind who are planning to organize Live Wire groups, met Tuesday night. There are 25 of them and three groups may be organized. Cleland Fisher, J. A. Stelner and Roy Griswold will be leaders. Tuesday night was spent in explaining the work and studying one of the lessons on "Friendship." Refreshments were served. Tuesday was designated as the regular meeting date.

The high school seniors won the largest number of points in the public speaking contests Tuesday night. It was through the winning of second place. The documentary contest was won by Elizabeth Curran, junior; Robert Crawford by Elizabeth Dyer, senior; boys' oratorical by Sexton Conway, junior; original oration by Norman Hopkins, sophomore; girls' extemporaneous, Dorothy Holt, eighth grade; boys' extemporaneous, Joe Swadlow, junior. The surprise of the evening was the winning of a girls' extemporaneous contest by Dorothy Holt, an eighth grade pupil, speaking on "Conservation of Our Forests."

The funeral of Oscar P. Aaby, who died of pneumonia at his home, Tuesday morning, will take place at the First Lutheran church Friday at 2 p. m. The Rev. G. C. Krostoe will officiate and interment will be in the church yard. Mr. Aaby was born in Sweden, July 17, 1845. In 1885, he was married to Emma Kristina, who died in 1904, three years after the family had come to America. Mr. Aaby was the father of nine children: John, Cambridge, Wis.; Oscar, Rockford, Ill.; Anna, who died in Sweden; Emil, who died in Illinois in 1907; Victor, Albion, Ark.; who died in Sweden in 1920; Christina, who lives in Michigan; Gustaf, Edgerton, with whom Mr. Aaby made his home; and one son who died in infancy in Chicago 30 years ago.

The funeral of Mrs. John Kranner, who died Sunday morning, took place Wednesday afternoon at her home in Edgerton, with interment in Fulton cemetery. She was born Dec. 30, 1844, in Pennsylvania.

Sadie Cullen union will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. P. Nicholson.

John Conners and James McDunnage visited in Edgerton Monday.

The K. P. district contest will be held in Edgerton, May 8.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR ATHLETIC PARK

An entertainment of dramatic numbers and music will be given at the athletic park on May 12 by members of the Drama and MacDowell clubs to raise money for the Y. W. C. A. Athletic park on South Main street. A meeting of the Drama club was held Wednesday night to perfect plans.

The program will consist of two one-act plays by members, a reading of a play by Mrs. Wayne A. Munn, and music by the MacDowell club. Young women who are to receive the benefit of the new park will sell tickets. They will be 50 cents each. The public is invited.

Miss Rachael Harris, Lincoln, Neb., is the guest of Mrs. John Cunningham, 755 South Bluff street.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lukas, South Main street, are home after a few days visit in Jefferson with relatives.

Devote every energy to finish the high school building as soon as it may be used before the end of 1932. With the completion, the problem of a community center will be solved.
Janesville needs and should have ample hotel facilities to care for the public. That will be especially true when the high school is completed and the auditorium is available
for the largest conventions.
Finish the paving of Janesville streets as soon as there can be the necessary re-

RUSSIA, STILL THE WORLD'S MOST MISERABLE

Russia at Genoa refuses to be anything but boishevik. It is at least consistent. The soviet government has arrived at the stage which has always been characteristic of any group possessed of sudden and enormous power. A fatuous belief in itself and its own omnipotence reaches a climax in arrogance. That is history. It was so with Robespierre and Danton and Pancho Villa. At first there was a disposition to deal with the allies
on some considerations of honor by the bolshevik delegation at Genoa. Once the treaty of Rapallo with Germany was signed then all that had been done was upset. Repudiation of debts and impossible demands have resulted.

The average man in America who carries a dinner pail and breathes the air of freedom,
has a greater horizon than the statesman of Russia. That has been shown in the most recent demands of Russia and the necessary ending of all negotiations with the bolshevik representatives at Genoa.

It is quite likely that, even while disclaiming
any military alliance, with her present negotiations for a combination of Hungary, Turkey and Germany as allies, the soviet feels so powerful as to assume such an arrogance in demands that it violates all the decencies of business and be devoid of any suggestion of honor.

Here is the greatest danger to Europe; the array of race and force of numbers and possible resources against the peace-loving people of the world. Vision of a renewal of the struggle for dominance in affairs must stir Germany now. But Germany and Russia have never gotten on well together. When Germany trims her sails for Russia it may be understood that Germany expects to get the largest part of the cargo.

And we must not overlook the fact of geography that between Germany and Russia there is the line of buffer states, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and that they are not at all willing to be absorbed by the world dominating possibilities of a German-Russian alliance. In no way that one may look at the situation which has so far been revealed at Genoa, is there optimism for world peace. What must be the final solution of the world's civilization will not be at all military in nature nor will it be dominated by greed and selfishness. It is as hard to talk to a person in reason when he is driving a sharp bargain by holding a pistol at one's head, as it is to feel that one may not turn the back and be safe from attack. That is Europe today.

If you do not clean up this week it is a sign
you do not have the clean up spirit and never will.

IN THE FREE AIR OF WISCONSIN

David Summerville of Rusk county, one of the foremost farmers and dairymen of this county and a strong member of the assembly for the last year, representing Rusk and Sawyer, has announced himself as a candidate for office of secretary of state. The field is open and free and there is no man sitting in the governor's office to say him yes or nay. That is also the way D. W.
Connor, of Marshfield, who has announced himself as a candidate for governor seems to feel about it. And from Outagamie county, Assemblyman Mark Catlin is also out as a candidate for attorney general.

But we are more than interested here at home
in the announcement of our neighbor, Riley
Young, that he will be a candidate for the nomination to the office of lieutenant governor. Mr.
Young has served ably as speaker of the Assembly. He is a splendid business man, and no flaw is found in him.

William J. Morgan the present attorney general, "Fighting Bill," is in the open field as a candidate for governor. Two years ago he fought his way up through the entrenchments of the opposition, battled along the lines of enmity to the radical leadership of the nonpartisan league and the program of state socialism, winning by a smashing majority.

These men and others, Mr. Dittmar among them, have felt free to announce their candidacy
without asking the consent of any boss or bosses.
Following their example there will undoubtedly be others who will feel just as free to get in the race. This is a big state. There is a lot of elbow room. Ambition need not be crowded out by thorns or pigweed. Wisconsin has a great many men fitted to fill any office. The most deplorable situation is raised when it is permitted that one man shall say, "You may be a candidate for this,"
and "You may not be a candidate for that." It cannot long be done in the free air of Wisconsin.

Appearance of the celluloid collar on the market

The Government's Bad Guess

By FREDERICK J. UASIN

Washington — A period of business depression
does not confine its effects to individuals and private business corporations. Hard times for the people also mean hard times for the government. This has become increasingly evident
since the treasury has come to place dependence
for so large a proportion of its revenue on income taxes.

In earlier days, the government's revenue sprang chiefly from excise taxes and customs duties. While depletion in the United States affected these revenues, they were not affected so directly as the income tax. Even in hard times people bought tobacco, wines, liquors and such taxed commodities. Imports continued and the customs duties went into the federal coffers.

With so large a dependence for revenue placed on income and profit taxes, a year of depression
is quickly reflected in returns to the government. Such a development is felt with especial keenness when the large volume of taxes from beer, wine, and whiskey has disappeared as the result of national prohibition. When people income taxes take a cut off, when business enterprises receive a year of low profits or none at all, profits taxes dwindle.

Income taxes are paid in one year on the income and profits of the preceding year. Thus,
the March 15 installment of taxes in 1932 reflects
the condition of business in 1931. That was a bad year for business. Farm prices sank to lower levels than had been reached in years. Wages and salaries were cut all over the country and many people laid off. Thousands of people who the previous year were earning high enough to be subject to the income tax, in 1931
found themselves among the army of the unemployed. When men have diminished incomes, their purchases fall off. This means that business houses all down the scale suffer diminution of business and therefore profits are non-existent.
For that reason, business profits taxes sink to small figures.

Under the budget system, on which the United States government now operates, careful estimates are made of probable revenues and of expenses for the fiscal year. If these estimates prove wrong, the treasury is embarrassed. The estimates for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1932,
called for an installment of income and profits
taxes on March 15 amounting to $460,000,000.
For the calendar year 1932, the estimates were made on the expectation of taxes from these sources amounting to $1,700,000,000. The tabulations of the taxes paid of March 15 last are just being completed and show receipts of less than $400,000,000. This has necessitated an entire revision of estimates for the calendar year.
It is felt now that not more than $1,500,000,000
will be collected. This means a deficit of $200,- 000,000 in expected tax money.

Appropriations for government expenses are made in advance by congress, based on the money which will be available, as estimated by the bureau of the budget. This means congress has made appropriations on the basis of an expectation of $1,700,000,000 in 1932 from these taxes.
In other words, the money already is spent. It is not now possible for congress to levy more taxes which can be collected this year to make up for this hiatus between the estimated revenues and the money appropriated. There is a definite gap.

The only recourse of the government, therefore, is to borrow money from the public with which to carry on government business and meet
the bills contracted by congress through appropriations. The treasury will not issue any long term bonds, such as the Liberty bonds put out during the war, but will effect its borrowings by metting this emergency by selling to the public short term obligations known as treasury certificates
of indebtedness.

To put this in simple terms assume a man has started the year in the full expectation of having an income of $4,000 a year throughout the ensuing 12 months. He has contracted expenses on that basis, which will use up the full $4,000. Later he discovers that his income will be only $3,500. He has signed contracts to pay the full $4,000. He cannot get out of them. He must borrow. He expects to do better the next year and therefore does not desire to obligate himself to pay interest on his borrowings for a long period. Therefore, he signs a promissory note for a year.

In the larger national sense, a treasury certificate of indebtedness merely is a promissory
note to tide the government over until it can balance its budget—that is, have expenses and income equal. These certificates of indebtedness will be sold by the treasury to banks,
corporations, individuals or anyone who will buy them. The showing of the March 15 tax installment means that $200,000,000 in these certificates
must be sold between now and next January.

The treasury, in estimating the income for this year, took into consideration the business depression, but it seems it did not realize how far fallen. The previous year the revenues from these taxes on March 15 amounted to $228,157,000. This sum was practically cut in two in making the estimates for 1932 but it seems the income of the country has been cut even more than that. In 1930, the income and profits taxes amounted to $3,556,536,000. To visualize how much the national income has dropped since 1930, the boom year, contrast this figure of $3,556,536,000 for 1930 taxes with $1,500,000,000, the revised estimate for 1932.

Some of the reduction can be accounted for by relaxations in rates but not much, as the principal relaxations do not go into effect until next year.
The March 15, 1932, tax installment of less than $400,000,000 compares with a payment of $723,- 000,000 on March 15, 1931. The March 15 payment in 1930 was over $3,000,000,000.
Usually the March 15 payment is the largest.
Possibly as much as a third of the year's income
already has been paid in and the year's revised estimates will fall substantially below $1,500,000,- 000.

This showing had the effect of dulling the enthusiasm of many members of congress for the plan to pay a soldier bonus and has increased the opposition to the treasury to the plan. It is declared that, with the treasury in such poor condition, it is not feasible to add a burden of two or three additional billions for the soldiers.
There are, of course, widely differing opinions on this point.

When the government's income falls below expectations and the treasury must resort to borrowing, still more taxes are being piled up against the people. Interest must be paid on the loans made to make up the deficit. Therefore, that interest charge must be added to next year's expenditures. Just additional short term borrowing of $200,000,000 to make up the gap between this year's expenses and income, will cost interest amounting to $5,000,000—a great fortune in itself. In other words, because taxes were $300,- 000,000 short this year, next year they must be $208,000,000 more.

JUST FOLKS

TEMPERMENT
The tempter came and whispered low:
"Take this. The world will never know—
And if it does, the law is such
Your person it cannot reach a touch.
You can be rich and buy all things,
Have every joy which money brings,
And live at ease." The youth said:
"No."
I will not buy my fortune so."

The tempter smiled. "I offer you
That which your neighbor there will do
If you decline. From day to day
His couch will pull him down the way
And you shall see him living high
With luxuries you cannot buy.
Safely he shall enjoy my aid.
The fortune which you could have had."

"If you can stand each day to see
Your neighbor dwell in luxury
While you in poverty remain,
I will not trouble you again.
But here is fortune at your door.
Steal now, and need to steal no more."
He answered: "Better years of grief
Than have to know myself a thief."

What if the written law must fail
To keep the other man from stealing?
He knows the way his fortune came
And all his joy is touched with shame.
Strangers may think he earned his pelf,
But he cannot deceive himself.
The courts may set a racial fire,
But in his heart a thief he is.

CONFESSIONS OF A CYCLO

I don't believe the police will be able to do
a thing unless the public stands behind them.
I don't believe the communists know how to run a government or anything else.

I don't believe a man with a bobbed
flapper is all that is necessary to make a good motion picture.

I don't believe any woman who murders a man in cold blood and confesses the crime
should be allowed to go without some sort of a sentence to remind her that she has fractured
a law.

I would hold up my hands immediately, if not sooner, were I accosted by a gunman. Anybody who does not is flirting with the coroner.

I don't believe the press has a deterring influence on the advance of civilization. I don't believe she has any influence at all.

I like criticism. It proves that somebody is interested in my work. I can imagine no greater disappointment than to be ignored entirely.

Who's Who Today

CAMILLE BARRERE.
Louis Barthou and Camille Barrere are France's principal representatives at the Genoa economic conference. Barthou has been much in the limelight since the war days. But little is known in the U. S. of Barrere. A diplomat has represented France as ambassador to Rome for nearly a quarter of a century.
The history of the World War might have read much different but for years of diplomatic labor on Barrere's part before the conflict came.
Through Bismarck's clever
trigues and the weakness of Prussia, Crispien of Italy the Iron Chancellor had made Italy almost a pawn in Germany's hands. Barrere labored with purpose to break
this hold, partly by building up trade between France and Italy. By the time the clash came in 1914, the Rome government was convinced that France was the weaker power.
Barrere was once sentenced to death for his part in the Commune insurrection of 1870-71.
His father and grandfather were leading revolutionists in their days. When he escaped after the 1870 uprising he fled to England and made a living as a French instructor and journalist.
Later he attended the international conference at Berlin. During part of that conference
he served as confidential clerk to the French plenipotentiary, M. Waddington, who started him on his diplomatic career by obtaining for him
a post in the department of foreign affairs. This appointment came after the armistice act in favor of the participants in the Commune insurrection.

In 1884 Barrere became plenipotentiary to Egypt. Later he became minister to Stockholm, then took up his duties at Rome.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

April 25, 1892.—The work of rebuilding the dam is progressing rapidly. It is expected that within two weeks enough head will have been constructed to allow the mills to reopen.—The Big United States Circus and Menagerie will leave their winter quarters here this week and start on the road. Messrs. Myers and Shorb are owners.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

April 26, 1892.—Charles Reed and William Collier, two of the best-known comedians on the stage, will be at the Myers theater this Friday night in a vaudeville performance. The Henry Souden, Chicago for the murder of Mrs. Dunton, formerly of Janesville, is attracting much attention here. Souden's daughter is testifying for him.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

April 26, 1902.—Directors of the Badger State
Long Distance Telephone company are meeting
in this city to consider means to relieve the $30,000 indebtedness of the company. The lines extend to all parts of southern Wisconsin.—
Business men of the city report the action of the Northwestern road in removing many employees and families from this city, and will take action at a meeting of the Business Men's association tomorrow night.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Is there any truth in the idea that an Englishman's blood is thicker than water? I have heard recently that it becomes thinned out like ours
after he has lived here for some time. (Mrs. J. W.)
Answer—No, it is his wit, not his blood. It is the climate.

Smallpox Pitting.
When a child I had smallpox which left my face marked to this day. I have heard recently that some new invention will remove these horrid pits from my face. I am 22 years-old and very unhappy. (Mrs. J. W.) Answer—I regret I know of no such remedy which will remove the scars of smallpox. A very old and efficient remedy prevents them—vaccination.

Will a woman who has superfluous
flesh on the abdomen, vulgarly called a "high stomach," readily lose her normal figure by wearing corsets or other tight appliances,
or by going without? (Mrs. C. A. B.)
Answer—Corsets, whether tight appliances merely push the mass inward, upward or downward, so that it is to be sure, but this camouflage is bad policy because the muscles grow weak and weaker in it, and rather favors further accumulation of slack-or flesh or fat. The way to get back normal figure is to build up the body by omitting all such makeshift appliances and training the muscles
by regular exercises to support the body.

It would be pleased to get from you
the symptoms of the disease you have
I. This trouble we have had most of the winter and some men working
for us have had it, the winter tick,
I suppose. (W. L.)
Answer—Various communicable diseases, and several that are not communicable, cause itching. The worst treatment is particularly bad for skin troubles, so I advise you to consult your family physician about it.

Q. Where do electric light bugs
come from? G. D.
A. Electric light bugs are water bugs. The correct name of which is fish-killer. They come out of the water in early summer and fly in swarms at night, gathering about lights. They are very annoying about the street lamps that they have become known as electric light bugs.

Q. Which of the great lakes has the most fish in it? M. C.
A. The Great Lakes produce the largest catch of food fish, amounting to 51 per cent of the total for all the great lakes. Lake Erie yields 34 per cent; Lake Huron 33 per cent;
Lake Superior 28 per cent; and Lake
Ontario 2 per cent.

Q. How is the name "Lascalle"
which is now Princess Mary's, pronounced? F. D. A.
A. The British embassy says that Lascalle is pronounced with a hard "L" and a soft "S" and is not pronounced "Lassalle."

Q. Is there any fruit tree that will produce two crops in one season?
J. E. A.
A. The fig tree is distinguished from almost all others by the extraordinary property of producing two crops of fruit in the same year on distinct shoots, in climates congenial
to its growth.

Q. Is there such a fish as a fighting fish? D. H. K.
A. The fighting fish is a member of the climbing perch family. It is found in the northeast of Asia. It is remarkable for its pugnacious propensities. In slimy fishes are kept in glass globes for the purpose of fighting and extravagant gambling
takes place on the result.

Q. Did a citizen of this country ever conduct a successful revolution
in Central or South America? M. D.
A. William Walker raised a California company in 1856 and attacked Nicaragua successfully, setting up a government, recognized by President
Pierce, which re-established slavery
and invited southern immigration.
Walker was driven out of Nicaragua
in 1857, made unsuccessful efforts to re-establish himself, and on landing with an expedition in Honduras in 1859 was defeated, court-martialed and shot.

Q. What army camp covers the largest amount of ground? How many men are stationed there? S. H.
A. The war department says that the largest States camp covering the largest area has approximately 150,- 400,000 acres in it. This is Camp

Bragg, N. C. There are 131 officers and 1,832 enlisted men stationed there.

Is Here

There are a thousand and one things you can build yourself with concrete. Garages, flower boxes, walks, sand boxes for children to play in,
fences, porches, steps, porches, and entrance drives are among these.
Concrete is so simple.
It does not require an expert. You can do it yourself easily, with a little instruction on how to mix
and pour concrete.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I believe far more in rewards than I do in punishments. I'm convinced that if you make right living attractive enough you won't have to bother much about sin. Punishment is not the Big Idea. All Regular Parents, School Teachers, and People
With Bank Accounts were supposed to be especially licensed Punishers.
Some of them still think they are, but many of us are beginning to suspect that that program is all wrong.

I don't know much about God's thoughts but I've known that if you hate to have His work interfered with by punishments. Wrong doing is indeed a bad waste of time and strength, but inflicting punishment and standing around repeating it to me almost as bad a waste. I want to forget the wrong things the other fellow has done as quickly as possible and help him to go shining on his way. And I'm even more keen on forgetting my own sins and acquiring aforementioned shine.

Most punishment isn't done because we have any deep convictions on the subject, but because we've always seen it done and it has never occurred to us to think whether there might not be some better way. Why not give little Willie a new pop-gun when he does right instead of a whalling when he does wrong? It sounds startling, but it's nevertheless much nearer the true needs of the human spirit. But NO—we feel that little much oratory and tax money preaching against and punishing wrong doing, we used more of it in rewarding right doing, and making decency an attractive and profitable investment.

Suppose we begin to put some of the dash and daring into our schemes for rightness which the sinner puts into his schemes for wrongness, don't you think we'd get along better?

Has it ever occurred to you how NEGATIVE most human goodness is
and how POSITIVE much of the badness?

And I'm thinking a lot more, too,
but that's enough for one day.

At the Villa Rose

SYNOPSIS TO DATE.
A Mr. Ricardo, fifty, rich, retired, at Aix-les-Bains for the season, sees Cello, a lovely young protégée of Mme. Camille Dourvay, come from the dining table and seat herself on a bench apparently in great distress. She returns to the room, and he observes her watching Harry Wethermill, a dashing and wealthy young Englishman, who is playing high. She tells him a five-dollar note, and he smiles and tells her they are partners. He begins to lose and loses steadily; then he stops and he and the girl go into the garden. The next morning Ricardo announces the murder of Mme. Dourvay. Cello, her protégée, rushes to Ricardo's rooms with a newspaper announcing the murder of Mme. Dourvay. Cello, her protégée, rushes to Ricardo's rooms with a newspaper announcing the murder of Mme. Dourvay. Cello, her protégée, rushes to Ricardo's rooms with a newspaper announcing the murder of Mme. Dourvay.

Wethermill spring up from his chair in desperation. "You, too, think her guilty? You have seen her. You think her guilty—like this detestable newspaper, like the police," asked Ricardo sharply. "Yes," said Harry Wethermill suddenly. "As soon as I saw that rag I ran down to the village. I saw her in possession. They would not let me out of the garden. But I talked with one of them. They, too, think that she let in the murderer. They are observing the service and I observed the room. Then he came to a stop in front of Wethermill. "Listen to me," he said solemnly. "I saw the girl half an hour before I saw you. She rushed out into the garden. She flung herself onto a bench. She could not sit still. She was hysterical. You know what that means. She had been losing. That's the number one."

Mr. Ricardo tipped off from his finger. "She ran back into the room. You saw her to share the wings of your bank. She consented eagerly. And you lost. That's point number two. A little later, as she was going away, you asked her what she was doing in the room the next night—yesterday night—the night when the murder was committed. Her face clouded over. She hesitated. She became more than grave. There was a distinct impression, as though she shrank from the contemplation of what it was proposed she should do on the next night. And then she answered that she had not been there. That's number three." And then Mr. Ricardo tipped off his third point.

Dinner Stories

A sudden sound of whistling disturbed the air of the classroom, and the teacher of "The French Language" bubbled over 40 small plates bent over 40 small plates.

"Who's that whistling?" screamed the teacher, as soon as she had recovered from her surprise. "It's just me," answered little Jack, sitting with the true Scottish imperturbability. "Did ye no ken Ah did whistle?"

The thing of living in the country is great. First, all you need is a place to live in; and then a horse and a cow and some pigs and chickens.

Then all you need is some feed for the horse and cow and pigs and chickens, and a strong man to feed them.

Then you need to read all the farmer books and government bulletins and learn just how things should be done.

But with all that, it's the life; and a fellow could stand it if it wasn't for the mortgage and paying the man and buying the feed.

"See here, waiter, what's this collar button doing in my soup?" "Not so loud, sir, please. Don't let that man at the next table hear you. He's dining here regularly for lunch, and we've never thrown in anything extra for him."

TODAY'S RECIPES
BRAN MUFFINS—One-quarter cup brown sugar, one-quarter cup lard, three-quarters cup sweet milk, one dessertspoon black molasses, one-half teaspoon salt, one and one-half cups bran, one cup flour, three teaspoons baking powder, cream sugar and lard, add molasses, salt and milk. Then bran and flour, stirring baking powder in four first. Bake in muffin tins in quick oven. This recipe makes one dozen muffins.

English Salad—One small head lettuce, one bunch celery, one small onion, one bunch radishes, two eggs, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon mustard, one-half cup oil, two to three tablespoons vinegar. Beat eggs, add salt, mustard, finely chop onion, oil and vinegar. Beat all together until thick and pour into salad bowl. Shred lettuce, wash and shred cross and radishes. Arrange in bowl and serve. Garnish with thin slices of pickled beet cut in fancy shapes.

Dates Scuffed With Custard Sauce—Three-quarters pound dates, one cup water, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one tablespoon lemon juice, three eggs white. Remove pits from dates. Cover with cold water and allow to stand at least five hours. Cook slowly in same water until tender and rub through coarse strainer. Add salt and lemon juice and pour in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered baking dish. Set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven thirty minutes or until firm. Serve hot or cold with custard sauce.

RECIPES TO FOLLOW
Rolls Flank Steak—One pound flank steak, two potatoes (diced), two carrots (diced), two onions (diced), one turnip (diced), two cups cabbage (diced), one cup tomatoes, one cup bread crumbs, one tablespoon butter, two teaspoons salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, two tablespoons flour.

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlyle H. Holcomb

MR. MASON IN THE EARTH

Tinker Bob was resting on the ground while Little Tim and Silky went to the river for a drink. But you can be sure that our friend wasn't idle. There are so many things to see and to learn that he was very small, not much larger than a dime, and just as round. It was on the side of a slope where the earth was smooth and swung on a hinge. Some creature seemed to be opening it. It surely was different from anything the King had ever seen before.

"I wonder who that is trying to open the door?" he said to himself. Then he tried to assist matters by lifting the door up but the invisible being changed its attitude. The moment it felt the touch of a strange hand on the outside of the door it didn't want it opened and pulled it shut.

"That's funny," said Tinker. There he was trying to help this strange little creature out of its house in the earth and it wanted to stay in. Finally he decided to open the door anyway. So he found a sharp stick and pried it open which was no easy task for the little creature held it tight.

To his surprise, when the door opened Tinker Bob could see nothing but a deep hole in the earth. This hole must have been, at least,

could never afford to do nothing. Of course, Silky, liked to sleep when he was waiting for the King, but not so with Tinker.

Tinker Bob wanted to know everything that was going on about him. Presently he saw something open like a door in the earth. It most cover meat, cover and bake slowly one hour and a half, adding more water if necessary.

Tuna Fish in Potato Case—Mash a quantity of potatoes and form into cases, either with a pastry bag or by hollowing out a depression in individual mounds. Brush with the beaten yolk of an egg and brown in the oven. Remove with a cake turner to a hot platter and fill with creamed tuna fish. Top each case with a slice of hard boiled egg, or add the whites to the tuna fish and rice the yolks over the filled cases.

A Nice Sponge Cake—One cup sugar, two eggs well beaten, one teaspoon baking powder sifted with one cup flour. Stir the above well and lastly add one-third cup of boiling water.

AN OPPORTUNITY

The state distributors for a large manufacturing concern are looking for a responsible man who is anxious to get into business for himself as exclusive representative in Rock County. The product handled is one of the best known electric household necessities—more than two million dollars have been spent in National advertising to make the trade mark a family by-word.

No capital will be required; sales experience is desirable, though not necessary, but integrity and a record for hard, dependable work are essential. The man we are looking for is one who ordinarily would not answer a want advertisement, but who would like to be independent if the right opportunity came.

Rigid investigation will be made, so give full details as to past experience and local references in first letter to save time; no attention will be paid to communications which do not comply with this requirement. Address

HEART AND HOME

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am engaged to a boy six years my senior. I am 16. He has been going with other girls and seems to show them better times than he does me. When I went with a boy he got angry. He says he dearly loves me, but I cannot believe him because of the way he acts toward me.

I have a rich uncle who wants me to come and live with him. Do you think I ought to go and break my engagement, as he seems to enjoy the company of others more than mine?

TROUBLE HEARTED.
Yes, I think it would be a good plan to break your engagement, and to go to live with your uncle if you want to. The young man does not love you as he should or he would not go with other girls. Surely you do not want your husband to insist upon going with other women. Such a situation is what you would have to face if you took a man who was not faithful before marriage.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 17 years old and have been keeping company with a young fellow about 17. There is another boy who comes to see me, but I do not love him as I do the first. What can I do if they both come at once?

The first has come to see me very often and has been doing so for a long time. Although I love him, my folks do not like him so well. I do not go any place with him—he just comes to see me. What am I to do about it?
DARK EYES.

When both boys happen to come at the same time there is nothing you can do except entertain them at the same time. Try to keep the conversation lively, make candy or read a story.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Which should a husband love more—his wife or mother? I am a young married woman and my husband seems to love his mother more. I think when a girl marries all her love goes to her husband and her love is not loved as much as before, but I imagine men are different.

Do you think if a husband, his wife and mother were in a boat and it upset that he would save his mother or wife? Which do you think instinct would tell him?

FORGOTTEN WIFE.
Unfortunately love is not a thing which can be held in its proper place.

Love goes where it will. Some men never find it possible to love their wives as much as they have their mothers, while others are so absorbed with the new love that they neglect their mothers.

To picture a man and his wife and mother in a sinking boat is a waste of time. The solution of the problem would depend upon the man.

The warmth of a woman's love is only exceeded by her temper.

Church Basket League Closes Portals Wednesday Night

STRONGEST WHEEL IN YEARS PROVES PLAN IS SUCCESS

The best local inter-church basketball league season in several years will be brought to a close Wednesday night when St. Patrick's and the United Brethren meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30. The Saints will battle to move into a tie for second with the Methodists while the United Brethren will seek to jump into a tie with the First Lutherans for fourth place.

Although St. Mary's walked off with the title Monday night, interest did not halt there. The game Wednesday is expected to bring out the biggest crowd of the year. It is the first time St. Patrick's has not snatched off the leading honors.

Nine games around were played this year. St. Mary's took eight of them. The race was close and the sportsmanship of the highest.

From this year's circuit, a stronger one looms for next year. Efforts are constantly being made to impress upon the fans of Janesville the need of their support for amateur athletics of this type. The players are in line for what they can put into them and the sport derived. The loop is a foundation ground for bigger things.

Port Man Hits 299 as Final Pin Holds Fast

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Port Jackson—29 hit the pins for 11 straight strikes and then took down nine on the twelfth ball and held your heart while the tenth pin swayed almost over but—

Back to the top of the hill, the score of Carl Zahn of this city, in setting the local record with 299.

Throwing a hook ball with great speed, he registered his 11 straight, the twelfth ball struck square in the pocket.

It looked like a perfect score and the large crowd gathered as the count spread began to applaud. Number five maple waved and remained standing.

Buy New Unis for Black Cats

Thirteen men—not considered unlucky—will journey with "Curly" Black Cats to Evansville Friday. If new uniforms, ordered two weeks ago, arrive, they will be packed out in glory. The squad plays the Evansville city team which last Sunday smothered the Condon Transfers of this city.

Either Les Fire or Charlie Black will twirl. Gregory and Schoenle will try out for catcher. Campion will be on first; Hill, 2b; Owen, ss; and Clatworthy, 3b. The holders will be Hallett, Berger, Condon, Willis and Nervo. McAllister is manager.

The Black Cats were formerly the Janesville Ralls.

CHILDREN TO READ ESSAYS ON TOBACCO

The 10 children of the grade who have prepared essays on the harmful effects of tobacco will read them at 3 p. m. Sunday in the Baptist church parlors. The exercises will be in charge of Mrs. George Allen of the C. T. U., under whose auspices the contest for prizes is put on. There will be appropriate musical selections. The public is invited.

EAGLE CANDIDATES must be examined at once. Dr. Parnsworth will be in his office every afternoon and evening this week.

EVANSVILLE BOY TO WRESTLE IN MIXED BATTLE

ART ALLEN.—Frank Garrett, the Rockford maker of fighters, will treat Forest City fans to a mixed wrestling and boxing show Thursday night. To handle the wrestling end, he has booked Art Allen, Evansville. It comes not only on the mat but with his maulers.

Allen has agreed to throw Carl Farsell, heavyweight of the Olympic Athletic club, Rockford. Farsell will give his fans. Allen will use both wrestling and boxing tactics.

"Hink" predicts a future for Allen. Recently the Evansville boy sprung a surprise when he donned boxing gloves and showed he can hit hard.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

Two movements in different sports were announced Tuesday to cope with the pool selling evil. Milwaukee is going after the gamblers on the pool tables. The United States Golf association has put a ban on pools, with particular emphasis upon tournaments. Gamblers have put other sports on the back and it was only through strenuous efforts the national pastime was saved.

Along with this is Ben Johnson's statement that rowing in American leagues will be taken good care of this season. For the first time the rule that fair play must be given the visiting team will be enforced. This feeling does not confine itself to organized lineups. The Fox River valley circuit of Wisconsin, through President Kluwin, has decided on the same sort of clamp.

O. D. Leatherman, secretary of the Aurora Y. M. C. A., writing to the Rockford Chamber of Commerce for tennis games, wants to know if the Forest city club has any "rough" net games unless it is assured they will not "mix with a bunch of rough-necks." Mr. Leatherman evidently is not a tennis player question the type members of any tennis club.

John McGraw of the Giants says a double chin shows an athlete is slipping. During the White Sox-Giants game the New Yorker thus referred to Eddie Collins of Chicago. He had hardly finished when Eddie made a line drive back of second with one hand. And then Gleason laughed.

Athletics are considered of such importance by the English sports professor of English at Princeton, that he says that unless they clash with studies they are of no value. "Athletics have a desirable effect upon the nature of students of colleges," he says, "and should play an important part in college life."

Chicago is to have a "mother" and "daughters" sporting tournament spread and began to applaud. Number five maple waved and remained standing.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Williams Dims Bambino; 6th Homer in Four Games

St. Louis—Slugging his sixth home run in four days, Kenneth Williams, today surpassed Babe Ruth's record at this time last season, with three hits out of three times at the plate, enabled St. Louis to defeat Detroit, 5 to 3. His circuit drive came in the first inning, with Sisler on base. His four base walkup was secured off Pitcher Ehinke.

When Williams lofted one of Ehinke's shots over the fence in the first inning he made a new record in slugging. Babe Ruth, on one of his four hit sweat streaks last year hit seven homers in five days, but a double header was mixed up in the five day schedule; Williams has made his record six in four games.

There is no telling when the slugging Brownie is going to stop his terrific clouting. Last year Williams was one of Ruth's chief contenders in the American league for several weeks. He wound up the season with twenty-four homers to his credit. Williams has never been particularly anxious to break into the Ruth class.

Start Work on Grade Baseball

First steps in getting the grade school baseball league lined up for the coming season were taken at a meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday afternoon. E. S. Lamoreaux, last year's director of playgrounds; the Rev. Francis Elnegun of St. Mary's church; James Dorans of the industrial school and A. C. Preston of the "Y" conferred.

Further announcement will be forthcoming before the end of the week. A tighter organization is expected to grow out of this meeting. The goal of the race will be possession of the Gazette cup. This trophy now is held by Washington school. It was taken the first year by St. Patrick's. The Rev. Charles Olson of St. Patrick's says his institution will "cop" again.

WASHINGTON CREW CHALLENGES BADGERS

Seattle, Wash.—Darwin Meslin, graduate manager at the University of Washington, wired crew officials at the University of Wisconsin Wednesday regarding possibility of a race between the Washington and Wisconsin crews on Lake Mendota, Madison, Wis. Washington and Wisconsin have never met in a dual encounter, although they have rowed against each other at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Madison—The University of Wisconsin is making arrangements to row the University of Washington here during June. In dual meet the crews of the two schools, T. E. Jones, director of athletics said Wednesday. This contest will renew the rivalry between the two universities commenced in 1908 when the Washington crewmen met the Badgers on Lake Mendota, while on their way to the Poughkeepsie regatta.

First to establish the $10.90 price—Usco

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—

"Hereafter the price of the 30x3½ 'Usco' is $10.90."

The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value.

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price

BIG LOANS SOUGHT FOR EUROPE HERE

United States Wanted in Participation With Foreign Forces.

By DAVID LAWRENCE. Copyright, 1922, by The Janesville Gazette.

Washington—Financial phases of world reconstruction are developing which may bring the United States into active co-operation with the economic forces of Europe.

Although the official invitation to the federal reserve board to participate in a conference of banking institutions to be called by the Bank of England has not yet reached here, the fact of its coming is confirmed.

The Bank of England last year projected a plan for the financing of central Europe by means of a loan to Austria, it being considered advisable to use Vienna's banking machinery as a means of reaching the smaller countries which have grown out of the former Austro-Hungarian empire.

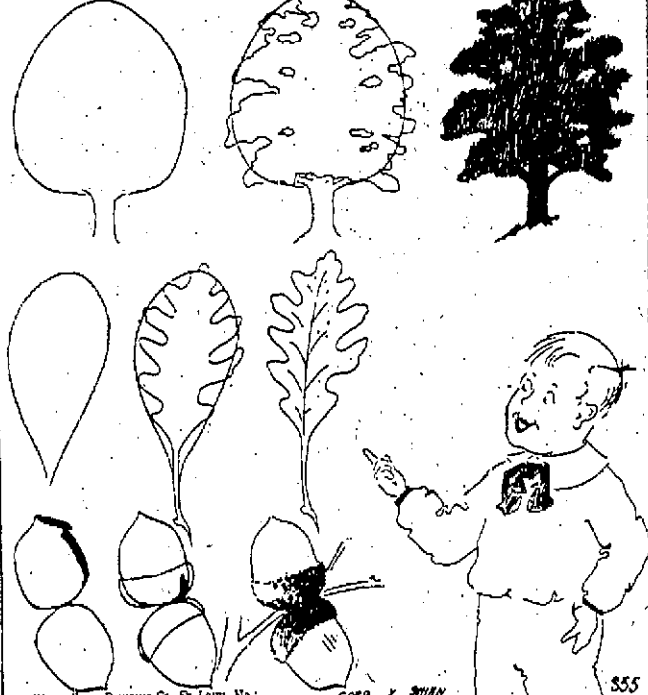

So far as known, the new plan is to stabilize exchange. It is not thought that the various paper currencies of Europe can be brought back to their normal value by any artificial means but it is nevertheless confidently believed that something can be done to stabilize and thus prevent market fluctuations especially with the currency of a big international loan which will take care of the obligations of Germany.

Effect on Exchange. Inasmuch as the governments themselves will be parties to the making of the big loan, they must consider the effect on exchange and act accordingly. The Bank of England and the banks of the other countries engaged on the allied side in the war acted together to prevent exchange fluctuations during the war, and something of the same sort is expected now that an approach is being made to the financing of the greatest reconstruction era in world history.

The announcement by J. P. Morgan that he has accepted the invitation of the reparations commission to discuss the chances of selling in America an international loan to Germany is only one of a number of coincident steps

No Official Capacity. Mr. Morgan goes in an unofficial capacity representing only his private interests, but his word and judgment will count for a good deal in foreign councils. If J. P. Morgan believes a German loan can be floated, provided it is guaranteed or endorsed by several of the allied and associated powers, the formation of an American loan group probably will be encouraged and the moral support of the United States government will then have to be won.

CONFIDENCE GREAT NEED—LADY ASTOR

Press Urged to do its Part in Establishing Good Feeling.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York—Lady Astor, in the speech she prepared Tuesday for the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, at the Waldorf Astoria, defined as the pearl of great price which she was striving to place in public life by entering politics.

But, said the first woman seated in the British house of commons, to turn to practical politics, what the world needed most in a practical way, was work, and trade was the most practical way to start work.

There, she continued, was where the press came in. It was for the press to write countries for trade and prosperity. "I know many of the American correspondents."

They are most able men, a credit to the American press. They are trustworthy. That is the opinion formed by the people who know in England.

Look to America. America wants peace. America started the league of nations. All Europe looks to America, not for large armies, not even for food, but for a great moral lead. Help out.

good in all men; but only a good woman can bring it out. "It may sometimes seem hard, this mother love, and you will feel that you know better, but you don't really. That's what is harder about being a pioneer; you don't realize, you men, how much you need our help."

Now no mother wants to be disagreeable, and often, to make you what you are, we have to do disagreeable things. So we feel, to make the world better, we must do disagreeable things and enter the arena of politics. It's well described as an arena, and there's many a stout old pagan in it; yet in we must go.

So gentlemen, now that you know what I'm all about, you will see why I am so deeply grateful to you, far more grateful than I can say; for in spite of your thinking us a sex who talk too much, we don't even tell you all we know."

In introducing Lady Astor, Frank E. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, said: "It gives me the greatest possible pleasure to present you collectively to Lady Astor, member of parliament for Plymouth—but still more to us, Nancy Langhorne of Virginia."

CONTESTS IN 20 TOWNSHIPS, MAY 4

Brightest Pupils in Each District to be Picked for County Meet.

Tuesday, May 4, is the date set for the township spelling contest, preliminary to the county contest to be held in Janesville in June. County Supt. O. D. Antisdal has announced.

The following teachers have been asked to act as leaders in each town: Avon, Alice Wall and Burnette Knudsen; Beloit, Extra Langbein and Mollie Harry; Brodard, Maud Grippen, and Ruth Mason; Center, Minnie Milbrandt and Nellie Klusmeyer; Clinton, Florence Davies and Clara Scovron; Fulton, Jane Crag and Stella Allaway; Harmony, Virginia Johnston and Nellie Gillespie; Janesville, Alice Milbrandt and Martha Novaski; Johnson, Marion Peterson and Ethel McArthur; La Prairie, Hazel Doyle and Mary Hodge; Lima, Mizpah Burnett and Evelyn Schenckel; Magnolia, Doris McCulloch and Nellie Mullins; Milton, Bessie Monahan and

Agnes McIntyre; Newark, Luella Hanson and Ida Bren; Plymouth, Helen Mayner and Violet Bruce; Porter, Mario Fox and Lillian Erickson; Rock, Margaret Flaherty and Rodella Murphy; Spring Valley, Cora Thompson and Minnie Hyland; Turtle, Eva Humbert and Jennie Neyhart; Union, Grace Leary and Clara Furseth. Janesville and La Prairie townships will meet at the court house in Janesville.

Each contestant is to take part in each of the three studies, writing, spelling and arithmetic or the work does not count toward the contest. The winner of the county contest will be sent to the 1922 state fair with all expenses paid.

Extravagance to Be Avoided in Road Work. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison—Although the state and counties have $23,544,223 available for construction and maintenance of highways during the present year, it is not anticipated that all of this money will be expended. A. R. First, highway engineer, says in his quarterly report.

"It is the intention to proceed with all due caution, to award contracts where contracts can be awarded to advantage, leaving work which cannot be executed advantageously this year for future consideration," he said. "There is no intention, however, to permit the maintenance to slacken, and if anything our efforts along this line will be intensified."

Indications are that the prices of materials will be reasonable, and that labor will be plentiful at fair prices. We look forward to a good season in 1922."
